(Kate Rogers, CNBC, June 2018, As the US population ages, the need for home health-care workers skyrockets.

The aim of www.accreditedhomehealthcare.directory is to provide a one-stop resource and starting point for those beginning to navigate the difficult task of providing care to loved ones. To this end, the new website was designed to provide information to caregivers regarding the importance of accreditation and its impact on quality hires, services, reimbursement, and oversight as well as help navigate important issues caregivers face. These issues include but are not limited to:

- Marijuana use in the elderly
- Available government programs and what they cover
- Lesser-known services, such as home hospice
- Care for aging pets
- How to select the right home care or home healthcare provider
- Answers to questions posed by caregivers through the site

The website makes all current accredited home care and home healthcare providers easy to find, arms the searcher with questions to ask when they conduct their first interviews, as well as provide answers to questions about caregiving for those who wish to age in place as long as possible.
